Park Avenue Baptist to Welcome New Minister Sunday

Missourian To Deliver First Sermon

Takes Residence Of Ex-Pastor

The 700-member Park Avenue Baptist church will welcome its new minister at services Sunday.

Dr. W. M. Taylor, for 13 years pastor of the First Baptist church in Marshall, Mo., has chosen "Master of the Centuries" as the subject for his first sermon as pastor here.

Dr. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, with their three children, Mary Ann, 14; William, 12, and Robert, 7, arrived in Mansfield late Thursday night.

They spent much of Friday getting settled in their new home, 68 Sherman avenue, the residence formerly occupied by Rev. Albert

DR. W. M. TAYLOR

L. Linder, whose pastorate Dr. Taylor takes. Rev. Linder recently went to Youngstown to become student pastor at Youngstown college.

FORMER OHIOAN

Dr. Taylor returns to familiar territory in assuming his new charge. Before going to Marshall, Mo., in 1935, he was for six years pastor of the First Baptist church in Ashtabula.

That was his first pastorate following graduation from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville.

He earned both his Th.M. and Ph.D. degrees from that college, majoring in church history for his doctor's degree. His thesis was written on the subject, "The Origin and Early Development of Christian Worship."

Dr. Taylor is a native of Oxford, Miss., and a graduate of the University of Mississippi.

Mrs. Taylor is a native of Hopkinsville, Ky., and a graduate of Bethel Woman's college there. She later also was graduated from the Woman's Missionary Training school at Louisville.

In addition to being active in church organizations, she is a member of the Monday club, P.E.O., and the Girl Scout council.

The Fiery Test of Moral Courage — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Book of Daniel.

Four Jewish youths, Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, were taken captive to Nebuchadnezzar's court, but they refused to eat the food and drink the wine at the king's table, and were allowed to live on Hebrew fare.

At the end of the time set by the king, the four were brought before Nebuchadnezzar, who found none at court equal to Daniel, Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego in all matters of wisdom and understanding.

Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image and demanded that all his subjects should worship it. Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego would not bow before the image and when the king was told he had them thrown into a fiery furnace.

Later King Darius signed a decree that anyone who petitioned any but him should be thrown into the lion's den. Daniel prayed to God and he was cast into the den with the lions.

MEMORY VERSE—Daniel 2:20.

Defeathering of the Human Male Offers Most Forlorn Spectacle

NEW YORK—(AP)—The most forlorn spectacle of the last century and a half has been the steady defeathering of the human male.

As women pile on more clothes to get the new look, men have less and less to wear. And the way it's going now in America the hefty half of the species will end up looking like a stand-in for Tarzan.

This is only partly because the chivalrous budget of today has as its ruling motto "women and children first." Behind it also is the steady growth of an iron femininity which remorselessly requires the defrosting of male vanity. A family can afford only one peacock—and today it's mama.

She gilds the lily. Papa's function is to dig up the gilt.

Man used to be the fashion plate. Now he doesn't even get enough to wear to be a stylish saucer.

Gone are the magnificent furbelows worn by the swaggering, sword-swinging dandy of old—the sweeping crimson and sable cloak, the high-topped hat crowned with a rampant feather, the puffed lace at the throat, the splendid powdered wig, the billowy handkerchief in the sleeve, the velvet britches, the varnished boots for riding, the silver buckled shoes for dancing.

The only buckle remaining to modern man is on his belt—so he can draw it tighter as he foots the bill for his lady of glamor.

Yessir, boys, the old scarlet pimpernel is down to his last petal. Man, in the days of his glory, dressed in every color of the prism. Today he feels lucky if he can afford to be a one-color rainbow.

His finery is going fast. When I was a boy, you could buy a suit and the man would throw in an extra pair of pants, a straw hat and a ticket to the movie or a ball game. If you brought the kids along, they got a free balloon.

Dear dead past! I bought me a post-war suit the other day. Times and money change, so I wasn't naive enough to think I'd still get the extra pants. But I was surprised to find I'd been short-changed a vest.

"You don't want a vest," said the salesman. "Nobody wears vests any more."

"I wear a vest," I insisted. "My father wore a vest, and my grandfather wore a vest. It's kind of a tradition in our family."

"For $12.50 additional you can have a vest," he said.

I bought the vest and gave up the idea of buying a hat. That's why many men are giving up wearing hats. Even bald-headed men who have to run the risk of sunstroke.

Piece by piece, year by year, man's clothing is vanishing. Some items have disappeared altogether. The vest, the hat and the garter are going—in my lifetime. The cuff went away temporarily during the war. The next time it may never come back.

Soon no man will complain that Sam made the pants too long. The question is whether pants will continue being made at all. And we'll probably all lose our shirts, too. Socks also.

★

But the last thing to go will be the necktie. Women like men to wear neckties. It gives them a haltered look.

It won't take the man of the future long to dress for a formal evening out. He'll jump into his sandals, whip on a loin cloth, run a lawnmower across his chest to remove 5:00 o'clock shadow, slap on a black bowtie—and be ready.

Mama will take longer.

Settlement Reached In $5,000 Suit

Property Dispute Also Compromised

A $5,000 damage action brought by Robert F. Zalbst, 324 West Sixth street, against Ernest and Vernessa Smith, 136 East Sixth street, has been settled out of court, a common pleas court journal entry disclosed today.

Zalbst sued the Smiths, contending Vernessa Smith was negligent when the Smith automobile and the Zalbst car collided at North Diamond and East Fifth streets Dec. 4, 1946.

He had asked the sum for personal injuries, hospital and medical expenses and loss of earnings. Zalbst was represented by Attorneys C. J. Kalbfleisch, R. W. Lett and Smith by Attorney Frank J. Kvatek.

Also settled out of court was an action appealed from municipal court involving a store property on the Ashland road. The property owners, Ralph W. and LaVonne Rogers won a writ of restitution ordering return of the storeroom from the lessee, Cornelius A. Cannon.

Cannon then appealed the judgment to common pleas court.

The Rogers claimed Cannon had not paid rent due on Feb. 12. Cannon said he paid it at a later date and that, therefore, the lease was not forfeited.

Attorney Marshall C. Moore represented Cannon and George Keyser was counsel for the Rogers.

Up and Down the Street . . .

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce, is looking forward to the birthday celebration planned for him tonight. Mrs. Routzon will prepare his favorite meal of roast pork and beans and there will be a birthday cake. The family will celebrate later in the evening at the Westbrook Country club. Routzon was born in Findlay and went to school there, graduating from Findlay college. In 1924 he went to Van Wert as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce until moving to Flint, Mich., where he stayed until 1938. He then went to Lancaster for a year before coming to Mansfield in 1939. Builders To Join In Plan

Exploratory Session Held

An exploratory meeting, designed to find out if low-cost housing can be obtained for veterans here, was held last night in the Amvets hall on West Fourth street.

The meeting, sponsored jointly by the North Central Builders and Contractors association and the Amvets, was aimed at an attempt to adopt the "Toledo Amvet" low-cost housing plan.

R. R. Guthrie, chairman of the Toledo Amvet housing committee, in explaining the work of his group said people in Toledo had "talked about veterans' housing, but nobody did anything about it."

So, Guthrie said, the Amvets decided to do something about it. After a survey conducted by the Amvets in which they found out what kind of homes GI's wanted, they prepared plans for a number of houses, Guthrie explained.

'MISSIONARY WORK'

The Amvets then asked builders if they could build such houses in the $6,000 to $7,000 bracket, the amount the average GI could afford to pay.

He described the work of the Amvet organization as "missionary" work—"selling the veteran on what he can get for his money. We showed the veteran what he can have for so much money," he said.

He emphasized the housing was not low-cost housing alone, but economy housing in the low-price field.

Having arranged with Toledo builders to undertake the job, the Amvets sought to bring the veteran and the builder together at a price the veteran could afford, according to his circumstances.

LOTS SCATTERED

The houses were put up on scattered lots and not just in one section.

Guthrie said that since Sept. 1, 350 houses have been built in Toledo through the plan of bringing veteran and builder together. Presently, the program is going as strong as ever, Gutherie asserted.

Herbert Rusk, president of the builders' association, presided at the meeting. He said a meeting of builders and the Amvet housing committee would be held within two weeks to go further into the problem.

If that proves successful, then a survey will be held to determine veterans' housing needs in the area, based on the Toledo experience, he said.

PRICES LISTED

Prices for the seven types of houses built on Amvet plans by Toledo builders, excluding the price of the lot, are:

Three rooms, no basement, $4,879; four and one-half rooms, no basement, $5,912; four rooms with basement, $7,296; two-story, four and one-half rooms, with basement, $7,160; two story, six-room, with basement, $8,777; double house, four and one-half rooms each, with basement, $14,289; four rooms, with basement, $7,163. Those prices are as of May 1.

Among those attending were Robert Bonham, Amvet housing chairman; L. D. Johnson and W. B. Ford of the Continental Mortgage company; Kenneth Dirlam of the Mansfield Building and Loan association; Elmer Sauder and Robert Schmitt, home builders; representatives of the Home Materials company, and the Charles Hoffman company. In all, 17 representatives attended.

New Republic Fights For Liberty Without Hatred For the Enemy

AN AMERICAN LOOKS AT A NEW NATION—Wars are the result of old hates—and the cause of new ones. . . . I respect the leaders of the new State of Israel for accepting the issue of force. . . . They had no choice. . . . But though they are defending themselves by force, they have set an example for the civilized world by fighting without hate . . . They have not called up the civilized world to exterminate the Arabs: They merely asked all decent people to help them defend their homes . . . They did not order out all Arabs within their new boundaries . . . Nor did they treat them as prisoners . . . Instead, this new land of refugees called upon all Arab inhabitants to play their part in the development of the state with full and equal representation in all its bodies, provisional or permanent.

★

Even as the Arab League battered at their frontiers the concept of justice in these men is so great—they did not hold the individual Arab at their mercy—guilty of the crime of the Arab League . . . Not only did they not punish him but with their free hand (with the other they had to hold the revolver with which they were defending themselves) they assured the Arab in their midst that he was not only their fellow-man but their fellow-citizen if he chose to be.

★

Thomas Jefferson himself could have struck no greater chord for all peoples . . . For the history books (even though the new state was born in war) the government did not assume dictatorial powers . . . Its first act was to put in motion the wheels of democracy, even though it was compelled, at the same time, to roll forward the artillery to defend the Republic.

★

Nor was this the only parallel to Thomas Jefferson and our own Republic . . . The Republic of Israel is not a state for Jews alone . . . In the face of a proclaimed Arab holy war, the Republic of Israel announced it would guard the sanctity of all shrines, including Moslem . . . It guaranteed absolutely the freedom of conscience and worship of all, including Arab . . . It guaranteed equality of education to its Arab inhabitants, and it guaranteed equal citizenship to all regardless of race, creed or sex . . . The State of Israel paved the path of civilization—by refusing to turn isolationist even against its present enemies.

★

The Republic has had good reason to hate by common standards . . . Many of its citizens are refugees from Hitler's mass executions . . . Many have relatives who are still DPs or who have been killed by governments . . . In the presence of aggression, the destruction of their homes, the killing of their families on the soil where they have a right to be, they have refused to hate even the people they fight . . . As their flag is raised aloft it is stained wth no blood but their own—shed in battle . . . This is something more than a historical example; it is living evidence that the people of this Republic can be believed when they say they fight only for peace.

Indians Lose, Cling to First Place

Fritz Howell's
Sports Chatter . . . .

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Sports stuff from around Ohio! June may be the month of brides to some folk, but around the Buckeye realm it'll be the month of birdies and bogies. The state seniors' golf meet is booked June 10-11-12 at Scioto Country club in Columbus; the women's national intercollegiates, June 14 through June 19 at Ohio State university course, Columbus; the Ohio Public Links event June 18-19-20 at Toledo Sunningdale, and the Inverness four-ball matches June 24-25-26-27 at Toledo.

★

Paul Timothy Froendhoff, a red-hot baseball player at Dayton Roosevelt high and University of Dayton in the late 30's, becomes a Roman Catholic priest June 4 at River Forest, Ill., and sings his first mass at Dayton two days later. In a letter to friends here a few days ago the future Rev. Paul Timothy Froendhoff, O.P., said:

"I haven't sworn at an umpire in seven years."

★

We've been fishing seven times this year, including one trip to Lake Erie for that renowned ice fishing, and up to now we haven't had a bite. Next time we're going along with Robert J. Ihinger of East Fultonham, over in Muskingum county. Bob dropped in at Buckeye Lake a few times last week and picked up 22 big mouth bass, each between three and four pounds. Sunday he returned and landed one 23½ inches long, 16 inches around, and weighing six pounds 2½ ounces.

★

Luther Hanshue, former Newark high coach now at Louisville, Ky., male high, is the latest "hot tip" for the Hamilton job vacated by Massillon-bound Chuck Mather. Herb Cummings, Xavier freshman coach, and Harold Mouch of Hamilton Catholic have declared themselves not interested in the berth. Paul Schofer, Hamilton basketball coach, also is headed for Massillon. Our best hunch is that a guy now coaching one of Ohio's colleges will return to the scholastic field as Hamilton's head man—and the announcement may come before Monday.

Dr. John B. C. Eckstorm, Ohio penitentiary physician and Ohio State university's first football coach, is heading back to Dartmouth June 11-12-13 for the 50th anniversary of his graduation. While there Dr. Eckstorm played every minute of every game through four seasons of football as half and fullback, captaining the team his senior year.

"Football was rougher, and a bit different in those days," the veteran physician said. "But one thing hasn't changed — it's a thorough knowledge of fundamentals which wins games."

★

Paul E. Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns, makes his first public appearance here Monday night since leaving for the service in 1944. The former Ohio State mentor will speak at an Agonis club banquet at which 14 of the top student-athletes in Columbus high schools will be honored.

Tom Tucker, Bricker Get In 2 Finals

COLUMBUS — Mansfield's Tommy Tucker and Marty Bricker were among the doubles qualifiers for the Ohio track and field finals here today.

Tucker placed in both the 100 and 220 while Bricker took seconds in the semi-finals of both hurdle events. Tucker, all-time Tyger record holder in the 220, was third in both his semi-final efforts.

A. C. Jenkins, soph hurdler, was eliminated in the lows when he ran fourth.

Burt Lindsay, shot and discus; Willie Fowler, high jump, Don Cline and Paul Ferguson, pole vault and the mile relay squad, will join Tucker and Bricker in the finals. Tucker will also compete in the broad jump.

COLE WINS THREE

Gene Cole, lanky Lancaster lad, was the big noise of yesterday's qualifiers. He won his semi-final heats in the 100, 220 and 440. Lancaster just resumed track this season and it is the first shot over the blazing cinders for Cole. He took the 100 in 9.9, the 220 in 22.9, and the 440 in 49.9.

Canton McKinley, Columbus Central and Cleveland Central are now rated the top teams in the state meet. Springfield's Don Stinchcomb, an ace hurdler and relay man, pulled a muscle and had to drop out of the point parade.

Thoma Shoots Par 34 Score In Club Loop

A par 34 by Pete Thoma set a fast pace for Coolridge club league golfers yesterday. Seven men, including Joe Mayer, who turned professional today, were four strokes behind with 38.

Others with 38's were Mike Reif, Jim Mussille, Pete Zimmerman, Hugo Brannon, Vin Malaska and Fred Huntsman, Coolridge manager.

Flakes Beats Lee Oma In Boring Pro Fight

NEW YORK —(INS)— A small Madison Square Garden crowd clapped and booed last night while Anton Raadik of Chicago, defeated Smuggy Hussey of Washington and Henry (Snow) Flakes of Buffalo defeated Lee Oma of Detroit.

Slightly over 7,000 fans submitted themselves to what was called the most boring evening on a Garden fight card this year.

Boston Red Sox Romp to 11-5 Victory

CLEVELAND — (INS) — The Cleveland Indians clung to first place by a slim half-game margin today after downing a dose of their own medicine.

The slug-happy Boston Red Sox were hitting on all eight, or perhaps only all seven, yesterday as they blasted out an 11-5 win over the Tribe.

Every Boston regular, excepting First-Baseman Murrel Jones, hit safely at least twice in Boston's 18-hit barrage. Jones went zero for three, but walked twice.

WILLIAMS WONDERFUL

Ted Williams, the Splendid Splinter, led the Sox with a perfect day at bat in which he pounded out a home run, his eighth of the season, and three singles.

The Indians put on a little display of power, too, but succeeded in holding the battle even only until the fourth inning.

Cleveland scored twice in the first and once in the third. Thurman Tucker, Larry Doby and Eddie Robinson walked and Joe Gordon knocked in Tucker and Doby with a single in the first. In the third, Boudreau and Robinson singled, and Boudreau scored when Gordon hit into a double play.

Meanwhile, the Bosox racked up a pair of runs in each the second and third, added three more in the fourth, scored once in each the sixth and seventh and counted two more for good measure in the eighth.

DOBY HITS HOMER

Larry Doby accounted for Cleveland's final two runs in the seventh by homering with a mate aboard.

Bill Kennedy started for Cleveland, but was replaced in the second by Al Gettel, who was nailed with the loss. Joe Dobson went all the way for Boston.

Manager Boudreau named Gene Bearden to hurl for the Tribe in the series' finale today. Tomorrow the New York Yankees invade for a doubleheader. Bob Feller and Don Black are slated to hurl in the twin bill.

One Hit Jobs Feature Play In Ball Loop

Two one-hit pitching jobs featured play in the Club Softball league yesterday. Hal Hammer of Sons of Herman and Thormaehlen of AVC tossed the brilliant exhibitions.

AVC beat the Amvets, 2-1. Sons of Herman trounced Post 16, 5-0, and VFW edged the Moose, 5-4.

Hetler of Sons of Herman and Hunt of VFW had perfect nights at bat with two and three hits respectively.

Joe Mayer Decides On Pro Golf Status

By CHARLEY STINE

Joe Mayer, Mansfield's foremost golfer, announced last night that he has decided to turn professional and will enter all major tournaments held in Ohio or vicinity. Included will be the Ohio Open.

Mayer, six times Richland county champion, will also be the pro at the new driving range which opens today on Cook road.

Mayer will continue his work at Westinghouse and will give lessons at the driving range from 7 to 11 p. m. daily. He will be sponsored by the range in tournament play.

The range, which opened for the first time today, is operated by Lee Adams, local golf enthusiast. Fifteen tees have been set up and powerful floodlights erected. Hours will be 8 a. m. to midnight.

TWO-FOLD REASON

Local amateur golfers have a two-fold reason to be happy over Mayer's becoming a professional. For one, they have long been anxious to see how he would fare against the game's best and for the second they will no longer have to contend with him in local amateur tournaments.

Mayer will abdicate the Richland county championship which he won last year for the sixth time. He has also won four Coolridge and five Possum Run club championships and for six straight years was caddy champion at Westbrook. That was in the 30's when the 32-year-old athlete was in his early teens. Once while a caddy at Westbrook he shot a 67.

The husky athlete holds the course record at Coolridge with a 29, five under par. He set that mark last summer. He won the Moose state championship in 1943, and has finished third three times and second once in Ohio Public Links tourneys. He lives at 511 Daisy street.

25 Big Car Drivers Will Race Sunday

ASHLAND — The midwest's leading big-car racers will gather at the Ashland county fairgrounds tomorrow for the first of two speed shows scheduled for the local track this spring.

About 25 cars, the biggest field in three years of racing at the fairground speedway, are expected to vie for more than $1,000 in cash prizes posted by the Tri-State Racing association.

The sponsors are making arrangements to handle 5,000 or more spectators. Tri-State officials again today reminded Mansfield area speed fans that the races will go off as scheduled unless rain falls after noon Sunday.

MAN TO BEAT

Carl Scarbough of Kego Harbor, Mich., who scored impressive victories at the half-mile track last year, is again established as the man to beat.

But Scarbough will have to keep the pedal flat on the floor to beat off the challenge of such dirt-track stars as Frankie Lupto of Detroit, Red Bayles of Columbus, Wayne Wynn of Tampa, Fla., and Buck Barr of Altoona, Pa. Wynn won the southern states title in 1946.

Sunday's program begins at 12 noon when time trials are scheduled to start. The trials will continue right up to race time at 2:30 when the first of three eight-lap elimination races is scheduled.

Following the eliminations, a four-lap helmet dash will be offered. Semi-final event will be a consolation race for drivers who failed to place in the money in the eliminations and after the consolation event will come the 20-lap feature event in which a field of 12 cars is expected to race.

BIRKDALE, England — (AP) — The United States retained possession of the Curtis cup, international golf trophy for women, by winning four of the six singles matches played today with British links queens. The final score was 6½ to 2½.

Illinois Moves Nearer Crown

(By United Press)

Illinois, paced by little Marv Rotblatt, today was a step nearer to retaining its Big Nine baseball crown.

Rotblatt won his fifth straight conference game yesterday, as the Illini topped Indiana 10-4 at Champaign. The southpaw fanned 11, walked only six, and helped win his own game by clubbing a two-run homer in the second.

Iowa Center Fielder Dale Erickson led the Hawkeyes to a 10-5 win over Ohio State at Columbus. The Buckeyes were held to four hits until the eighth, when Third Baseman Bill Burnhardt hit a homer with the bases filled.

A five-run surge in the seventh enabled Purdue to defeat Minnesota 9-4 at Lafayette. Michigan, which still hopes to catch Illinois, was trounced by Detroit, 14-2.

16 Professional Golfers Still In Running for PGA Crown

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—A "Sweet 16" of the nation's best golf professionals, including three former PGA titleholders, began the endurance test of 36-hole matches today, each hoping to garner the $3,500 top prize of golf's annual intra-mural fight.

All but two of the 16 survivors of a 135 man field which began scrapping for the 30th annual PGA title at Norwood Hills Wednesday were under par for yesterday's two 18-hole rounds.

Sam Snead, 1942 PGA winner, was the best performer of the day. He went 13 holes in the morning at four under par to down Clay Gadde, Cincinnati, and then finished off Frank Moore of St. Louis in the afternoon with another four-under combination. Gadde twice burdied holes, only to lose them to Snead's eagles on the same greens.

Former pro champions still in competition were Ben Hogan, who won in 1946, and aging Gene Sarazen, winner in 1922, 1923 and 1933.

Other stars still in the running include Lew Worsham, Claude Harmon, Jim Demaret, Henry Ransom, Skip Alexander, Chick Harbert, Duke Gibson and Lloyd Mangrum.

Dodgers Lose 6th Straight Tilt

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

It's a big jump from the bottom of the heap to the first division, but the Pittsburgh Pirates are trying to prove that it can be done.

Of course, the season has a long way to run and the Pirates may hit a snag when they run into the usual heavy mid-season doubleheaders, but Manager Billy Meyer's crew is in third place today, pressing the St. Louis Cardinals for the lead.

Due to postponements, Meyer has been able to give his veteran pitchers such as Rip Sewell, Elmer Riddle and Fritz Ostermueller plenty of rest and the oldtimers have come through with nine of the Pirates 15 victories.

Very few thought that the Pirates, who finished the 1947 season in a seventh place tie with the Philadelphia Phillies, would be among the upper brackets this year. One who did however, is Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rickey isn't reminding people of his prediction and pointing out now the Pirates are living up to it because the Dodgers, defending National league champions, are in seventh place and threatening to drop lower.

The Pirates paid their first visit to Ebbets Field, home of the Dodgers, yesterday, and shot up the place, 8-1, to hand the Bukoks their sixth straight loss.

"Lenin, a Biography," by David Shub is not only an objective account of the life of Lenin, but also of the revolutionary movement in Russia from the nineteenth century through 1917 and 1918 to Lenin's death in 1924.

The author presents clearly the strength of the dictatorship of the proletariat—the power of its world concept and the fanatic belief in the absolute liquidation of the opposition. This is an important book for an understanding of our time.

★

"The Cincinnati Reds," by Lee Allen, is a timely book for baseball fans. Cincinnati is the cradle of professional baseball and the story of the Reds is one of the richest and most interesting in all baseball history. Some of the most fabulous characters of the game have taken part in the Cincinnati story and all of them play vivid roles in this book.

This is a novel of a woman who lived her life to the full and repeated the pattern as her own daughter.

"The Great Mischief," by Josephine Pinckney is a delightful, ironic fantasy concerning an engaging little apothecary who becomes enmeshed with the powers of Darkness. He falls in love with a charming creature who proves to be a delightful companion by day and a guide to Satans' quarters by night. The scene is Charleston in the 1800s. Readers of this author's earlier books will recall her delightful descriptions of that fascinating city.

Pupils Give Dimes, Nickels For Relief

Practicing the principles they learned in their religious education classes in Mansfield public schools, pupils of those classes are sending their pennies, nickels and dimes to lend a helping hand to unfortunate children overseas.

Mrs. Mary James, instructor of the fifth and sixth grade religious training classes, announced that this year the total donated for the aid of children in war-ravaged countries amounts to $232.47.

The contributions have been accumulating since January, and when Mrs. James suggested ending the project a few weeks ago, the children objected, expressing a desire to continue it until the end of the school year. The resulting total is more than $100 in excess of the amount raised last year.

The funds are sent to the American Friends Service committee to be used for the purchase of 100-pound bags of a specially-prepared cereal. The food thus purchased is distributed through co-operating workers of the committee in foreign lands and usually is prepared and distributed as hot cereal meals at schools or other central locations in the areas needed.

MAKE POSTER

Under provisions of the Supreme court decision of a few weeks ago, religious education in the schools is outlawed, but it is expected that some other provision for similar training will be arranged by the start of next school year

In order to better visualize the gift, the children made a panel poster of a train, each school picturing its own flat car laden with bags of cereal which the donations of its pupils would buy.

Last week, when the project closed, a brief dedication service was conducted in each room in which hope was expressed for the creation of a little more friendliness "in a world that needs that spirit above all else."

Mrs. James listed for special note the accomplishments of the following classes: Sixth grade at Woodland school, which contributed $18.30; sixth grade at Newman, $16.05; sixth grade at Rebecca Grubaugh (Western avenue, $14.37; fifth and sixth grades at Brinkerhof, $16.24; sixth grade at Bowman, $19.03.

Contributions by buildings vary according to the number of classes in each. They were as follows: Rebecca Grubaugh, $41.80; Woodland, $25.92; Newman, $22.26; West Fifth, $8; Carpenter, $15.14; Prospect, $16; Brinkerhof, $30; Bowman, $44.60; Bushnell, $8, Hedges, $21.15.

'Men of Erie' Contest For Pupils

Historic Road Now Closely-Knit Transit System

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the final chapter in a serialization of "Men of Erie" On the basis of this serialization, pupils of Mansfield Senior High and the 10th, 11th, and 12th grades of Madison High school may write an essay of 1,000 words or less in the News-Journal's "Men of Erie" contest. One boy and one girl will be chosen as winners. The prize is an all-expense tour to New York this summer. Deadline for entries is May 28.

CHAPTER 6

A railroad company is no better than the men who constitute and serve it. No story of the Erie today would be complete without telling of the reconstruction of its organization.

Forty years ago, there were 14 operating divisions in the Erie system with an equal number of division superintendents. Today, with practically the same route mileage, there are eight. Where superintendents used to be chosen by rule of thumb, there is now a set ladder of promotion. Friction between divisions is a thing of the past, for the Erie has become a tightly knit organization from end to end. The aim of the road is steady, unceasing flow of traffic, and the main stem of the route has been pruned of dead and dying branches. In all its 114 years, the morale of the road has never been higher than it is today.

The reason for this improvement lies in the fact that the Erie has reached maturity. When the road was conceived and built, there was little precedent to follow. Railroading was "rough and ready."

Historians of New York state recall that the right-of-way of Erie was often marked by bloody fighting among the laborers, and if, at times, the battles took on a comic opera aspect, they were no less regrettable. At one time the fighting came to a point where the militia had to be summoned. Capt. Peter Swarthout brought his company up to Port Jervis. The Deerpark Guards came with a small cannon, which no one knew how to fire, and finally came a company from Middletown in immaculate white trousers and fine boots, which did not appear quite so spic and span after two days in the mud of Shin Hollow. There was a good deal of talk after the militia arrived, but not much real action. The rioters were impressed with the soldiers and their shiny guns and gradually calmed down, much to the relief of the militia. One of them said frankly, "If there had been three or four old women with their aprons full of stones, and they had begun to bombard us, I think we would have been routed." The high sheriff of Orange county took two or three of the ringleaders back to Goshen where they were fined and told to get out of the county, and peace reigned once again. Such adolescent foolishness is now a part of Erie's colorful past.

But if the startling sins of the young road are gone, so are the "prima donnas." Such temperamental stars as Dandy Joe Mcginnis and Poppy Ayers could not exist under modern conditions where every train is run by a highly-skilled and synchronized crew.

The crack train, Erie 98, is a sound example of en route efficiency and the way the line works. Cars from Chicago roll down to Hammond on the Indiana state line where the Erie's own rails begin. Here refrigerated fruit cars from the west coast may join in the formation of the train. At Huntington, 138 miles down the main stem from Chicago, more perishables from Texas and Louisiana are added. At Lima and Marion more eastbound cars are picked up. Marion Yard is always ready for unending influx.

The run from Hornell into Croxton Yards, the Jersey City terminus of the rails, except for two steep grades is practically water level. At Croxton, the Erie 98 loses her identity. The road locomotive is hardly on its way to the engine house before the busy little switchers are working hard at the newly-arrived train. The scrambling process is thorough twenty-four hours a day. The yard is not easily crowded, and is capable of handling more than three thousand cars on its miles of track.

The Erie does not run on rails to New York City, and for this reason, the "Erie Navy" is a very important part of the service. Almost everywhere on the rim of New York harbor the road has its own waterside terminals, which keep busy a fleet of 236 vessels. There are scows, barges, lighters, car floats, tugs, and ferry boats, all of which require the railroad to operate a marine yard, just south of the passenger station in Jersey City. The fleet of boats supplies New York and transports the freight to overseas ships which carry their cargo all over the world. Then the picture reverses, and goods from abroad and fram far parts of the country start pouring into Croxton for the trip west.

Long years ago, Erie began to develop as its own specialty, the swift transport of fresh fruits and vegetables from the East West and Southwest into New York. Today the road handles more than 98 per cent of the citrus and deciduous fruits sold in the city's huge wholesale markets. The traffic began June 28, 1887, with the arrival at Jersey City of a Central Pacific refrigerator car, hauling a shipment of plums, apricots and peaches from Vacaville, Calif.

It was unloaded at Jersey City and trucked over to a building on the south side of Bowling Green—and a mighty business had begun. At the outset of this traffic, it created as a fundamental of its operation at the Atlantic seaboard, the system of marketing by auction, which since then has spread to other metropolitan cities of America.

It would be interesting if the first president, Eleazar Lord, could come back to Erie today, if he could see something of the fruition of his vision and inspiration long ago. The six-foot gauge for which he fought so valiantly is largely responsible for the road's pet slogan, "Higher and Wider Clearances," though standard gauge track is used today. And President Benjamin Loder, who pushed the route through to Dunkirk, might be shocked to find that after all his work, the wrong terminus had been chosen.

These captains of the road and the thousands of others who have devoted their lives to Erie, have made their line one of the most efficient in the land. These are the Men of Erie to whom the success of today is a perpetual monument.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, MAY 22, 1948

Drive carefully tomorrow—and please read this to teenagers who are in too much of a hurry to see it themselves.

There has been so much complaining about the weather lately, you'd think California, Florida, and Arizona had infiltrated representatives of their chambers of commerce into Ohio.

What Time Is It Where?

HERE it is again—that same old controversy over whether or not Mansfield should go onto "fast time" for the summer months or continue on year 'round Eastern standard time. Reduced to its simplest terms, it is no more than a matter of acting to serve the greatest convenience of a majority of people in this city and surrounding country.

Timekeeping, after all, is largely a matter of convenience in performance of various tasks and in meeting appointments, and adoption of time standards in areas extending from east to west was designed to establish a uniformity that was impossible under the old "sun time" reckoning.

With other closely associated cities operating on "fast time" it is obviously awkward for Mansfield time to seem to be an hour slower, according to clocks and watches, but—as has been said before—common sense dictates that action should be on a statewide basis rather than by decision of cities.

As this is a matter on which there is no appearance of agreement, the idea of learning majority views by giving opportunity for voters to express their preference at the November election appears meritorious.

What's Purpose of Communist Party?

THERE is disagreement as to whether the Mundt-Nixon bill, if finally adopted, would outlaw the Communist party. But there is no doubt that, whether or not this bill becomes law, circumstances increasingly press the United States to decide whether the Communist party can be outlawed, and whether it should be outlawed.

The fundamental issue of political freedom is involved, and leads to a need to define the term "political party," and to decide whether the communists are a political party. The standard dictionaries suggest that a party is a body of persons united in purpose or opinion, in opposition to others. Does the American political system demand that a party be in fact something more, that it have as its primary aim at all times the loyal support and betterment of the people's government? What is, in America, a genuine political party?

If the Communist party is a political party in the American sense, then it cannot be outlawed, for to do so would begin the destruction of the American political system. If it is not a political party but a subversive seditious group, then it should not be permitted to use the label, nor be allowed to participate in elections as a party, and it should be subject to such legal restrictions as may be needed to protect government.

Whatever the country may decide to do with the Communist party, it must be remembered that communism itself is an idea, and an idea cannot be outlawed. It can only be defeated by a better idea.

Those Pictures Will Be Prized Later

YESTERDAY'S News-Journal is one that is quite likely to be accorded greater permanence in many Mansfield homes than is customarily the case with a daily newspaper. In that issue there appeared the pictures of almost five hundred Mansfield and Madison township boys and girls who are being graduated from high schools of city and township.

At the moment these young people may not realize how highly they will prize a copy of this particular issue in later years, but their parents will, and it is a safe guess that many hundreds of yesterday's News-Journal will be put away in some safe place and be kept for many years—possibly to pass along to children and grandchildren of the young folks who are now being graduated.

Anyhow Jesse James Has Imitators

WHILE the influence of Jesse James has undoubtedly extended through the years since his era of banditry in the Wild West, his imitators have customarily adopted more dignified methods of acquiring wealth.

Having long considered the most notorious of early outlaws as quite dead, as the result of a bullet fired into his back as much as 66 years ago, it is startling to contemplate that he may have been alive all this time—as claimed down in Oklahoma.

This would now place him at the ripe old age of 101, and, candidly, his early life was not of a kind to contribute to such longevity—and, anyhow, at that age he would be quite unlikely to resume leading an outlaw gang.

Development of such a story, however, reminds that any day now some imaginative writer may revive the old Charlie Ross kidnaping case and offer incontrovertible proof that the now aged Charlie is alive and well in some part of the country—as has been done so often in past decades.

Greed Threatens Natural Resources

AMONG the first to champion the idea of conserving natural resources was the late Gifford Pinchot, friend of Theodore Roosevelt and a Progressive of the early 1900's. Recent republication of Pinchot's revised and shortened autobiography, "Breaking New Ground," emphasizes the need for continuing the defense of such conservation policies.

The book tells the exciting story of the founding of the Forest Service 40 years ago despite much opposition. According to Bernard de Voto, writing in Harper's Magazine, the same kind of powerful private interests are marshalled again today to get great sections of public lands opened for private grazing. Publicity men and lobbyists, he says, are trying also to discredit the Forest Service. So far department of agriculture officials have refused to be swayed by the demand for revision of the public lands policy which would be, as de Voto puts it, the end of conservation.

The writer says "The crisis of the age is not atomic energy. It is the effort of parts of the human race to monopolize resources which, if properly conserved, could provide peace and plenty." He pleads with American voters to let their congressmen know that they want no diversion of public lands.

Back in 1922 an Iowa newspaper made a comment which applies even more forcibly today: "Giving Europe moral support is much like standing on the bank and cheering the fellow who is yelling for a rope."

TODAY IN HISTORY

Victor Hugo, world-famous French poet and novelist, died on May 22, 1885. He was the author of "Les Miserables," "Notre Dame de Paris" and many other works in which he showed his deep sympathy for the poor and the oppressed

Dave Boone Says:

ANYTHING that gives promise of a decision by Russia to play ball with anybody should be encouraged, but that reply of Joe Stalin to Hank Wallace looks pretty laughable if only for its statement that he is anxious to join anybody in a fight for the sovereign rights of all nations, for non-interference with the rights of small states, and for the swift completion of peace treaties.

The voice is the voice of Stalin but the hand seems like the hand of the delicatessen-store window-dresser.

* * *

It is a queer thing that all the leaders of America who have been patiently and painstakingly trying to get a little cooperation from Russia for three years have struggled in vain for the smile that Stalin now bestows so freely on the third-party candidate in a United States presidential campaign.

* * *

It certainly looks to me like the Wallace campaign was now on in full swing with Russian dressing. If Joe is on the level, why doesn't he address himself to our accredited representatives? Ain't he on speaking terms with Harry Truman or George Marshall, for instance?

That Electoral College

By THOMAS L. STOKES

CONGRESS has a splendid chance at this session to start a long-needed reform on its way. This is abolition of the antique and outmoded electoral college system and substitution of popular election of our presidents.

The opportunity is offered in a proposed constitutional amendment which has been reported favorably from the judiciary committees of both House and Senate and is waiting on the calendar. Passage by the necessary two-thirds of each branch would send it to the states, of which approval by three-fourths is needed for ratification.

The amendment would abolish the electoral college but retain the electoral votes. Under it, each candidate would receive the proportion of the electoral vote of each state to which his popular vote entitled him.

For example, if the Republican candidate received 60 per cent of the popular vote in Ohio and the Democratic candidate 40 percent, the Republican would get 15 electoral votes, and the Democrat, 10. As it is now, the Republican would get all 25. And so on with every state.

Congress not only has the opportunity to do something now, but it also has today a glaring example of how the electoral system might be abused. This is in the South where, as we are aware, plans are afoot among Democratic organizations in a few states to withhold the electoral vote from President Truman because of his civil-rights program.

There is no certainty that these states will go through with their plan, but if they do, the result will be to place in the hands of a few men the right to cast the vote of the state, no matter how the people voted. The people would be voting blind. Many might vote for President Truman. He might get a majority. But, if the plot goes through, these votes wouldn't count.

* * *

Would Be Impartial.

THERE'S another possibility in the South this year. Because of southern resentment against the president, there is a chance that a Republican might carry one or more of the states that used this device—rather remote, it is true. But unless the electors decided to cast their votes for the Republican candidate in such an event, which they would hardly be likely to do, the people who voted for the Republican would be disfranchised.

If the electors decided to cast their votes for a third candidate, then the people's votes for neither the Democrat nor the Republican would count.

This is merely cited as an example of what could happen. The proposed amendment would not apply to the 1948 election. But it does have application to the future and to such a contingency as has occurred three times in our history, when the candidate who got the biggest popular vote lost the presidency through the electoral system.

The amendment would also open the way for giving us still more democracy and for strengthening our two-party system.

Under the electoral system, many voters do not get any recognition or representation, since the candidate who wins a majority in a state gets the entire electoral vote. A proportionate allotment would recognize the minority in the electoral count. We would not have had the lopsided electoral votes of the last few national elections had such a system been in effect.

The proposed change would help the two parties to build up their strength in sections where elections now almost go by default as with Republicans, for example, in the South.

Recognition of their votes in the proportional-electoral-vote method would make it worthwhile for Republicans to vote in the South and become politically active, and also would induce Republican presidential candidates to campaign in the South.

Budget to Bear Watching.

The hefty sum of 14 billion dollars plus has now been asked of Congress to finance defense activities for the 12 months starting July 1. Since Congress is in general agreement with the administration on the need for more military strength, this request probably will be trimmed very little or not at all. This Congress must look elsewhere at this time for ways to hold the national budget down to a manageable size

Both the House and the Senate already are committed to do just that. A resolution adopted by both prescribes a 2-billion-dollar reduction in the budget originally estimated by the President at nearly 40 billion dollars. Increased defense costs since the earlier estimate of 11 billion dollars for that purpose make the demand for over-all economy even more imperative than before. -- Kansas City Times.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Manpower Lacking In Security Program

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

FOR months Congress has debated how to achieve national security in an uneasy postwar world. It has moved quickly on one front of the preparedness problem, very slowly on another. Both Houses have authorized billions of dollars for defense machines but have not yet made up their minds on how to provide the men to man them.

It always has been easier for Congress to mobilize horsepower than manpower. Traditionally, America's armed forces never have been the world's biggest—numerically. Victory in wars this country has fought has been the result of firepower. The latest and best tools of war, turned out by mass production, have made the U.S. Army, Navy and Air Corps the most powerful fighting units in the world.

Military experts warn that the United States no longer can rely on the "Minute Man" tradition for security. Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Army chief of staff, says the first 60 days in the next war will be decisive. There will be no time to train men or mobilize industry.

70-Group Air Force.

Congress has authorized funds for a 70-group Air Force. It appropriated $3,198,000,000 for 4,200 new planes, mostly jet fighters and long range bombers. The goal is 21,000 active planes by 1952, compared with 5,000 to 6,000 now.

A House committee this week approved plans for a new super carrier for the Navy a 65,000-ton flattop capable of operating in the Arctic. This new ship, almost half again as large as our best carriers, would cost about $124,000,000 and take about four years to build. Although the time could be shortened in an emergency.

Two other significant events occurred this week in the armaments race. The United Nations Atomac Energy Commission suspended sessions after a two-year deadlock over international atomic control.

New Atomic Weapons.

David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, revealed that this country had completed sucessful tests on three new atomic weapons, each more deadly than the wartime A-bombs. He called the tests by a 10,000-man task force at Eniwetok in the Marshall Islands "a milestone in atomic development."

President Truman approved a new program of atomic research to begin at once. He indicated the U.S. would keep on improving and producing atomic weapons until international agreement on the atom had been reached.

Government action on the manpower phase of security has not been decisive. There appears little hope for the universal military training program advocated by the President and military chiefs, at least before next fall's elections.

At Home

Probing Earth's Secrets.

The earth, like the old grey mare, isn't what it used to be. It's losing its pep.

Scientists long have known that the earth's rotation is gradually slowing. It loses one revolution every 7,000 years. Dr. L. B. Slichter, a University of California geophysicist, suggested this week that the earth's core may be revolving faster than its crust, something like a slipping automobile clutch.

Existing records of earthquakes might show a difference between core and crust rotation, he said. The slowing down of the earth's crust rotation, which has been demonstrated scientifically, is due to the friction action of the tides.

The crust extends about 200 miles deep. Below that is the core, supposedly hot and more or less fluid.

Stalin's "Peace Bid."

In his first public pronouncement in more than a month, Premier Stalin declared this week that Russia is willing, if the United States is, to accept Henry Wallace's open letter as a basis for negotiation of Russo-American differences.

The state department characterized Stalin's latest statement on peace as "encouraging" but carefully pointed out that international differences involve more countries than just the U.S. and the Soviet Union.

Specifically, Washington said, these issues have been under negotiation for two years or more in the United Nations, the council of foreign ministers and elsewhere. The state department directly blamed Russia for failure to reach agreements.

* * *

Red Letter Week.

Premier Stalin's offer to negotiate a "Henry Wallace" peace program and the Dewey-Stassen debate elevated communism to one of the hot political issues of the week.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Harold E. Stassen, campaigning for Oregon's 12 Republican presidential nominating votes, fought a no-decision radio battle over the question of outlawing the Communist Party. The debate hinged on a claim by Stassen that the Mundt-Nixon bill would outlaw the Communist Party while Dewey maintained it wouldn't.

Mundt, author of the bill, said later it was understandable that Stassen and Dewey should differ on the bill. It is about halfway, he said, between their respective views.

Quotes

William O. Douglas, Supreme Court justice: "America must grow up politically to stop communism, make democracy work and shape the world in a pattern of freedom for all men."

Dr. Edward U. Condon, chief of the Bureau of Standards and an atomic scientist: "A lot of the investigations into federal loyalty is in extremely incompetent hands and a waste of the taxpayers' money."

Abroad

A One-Party State.

Czechoslovakia holds its national elections this Sunday. Even before the returns come in, it is possible to know the result. The vote will legalize the Communist government established during the coup in February.

There is only one slate of candidates. It is sponsored by the Communist Party. There is no opposition, even though three months ago Communists were only a minority party in Czechoslovakia.

Recently, said an officer whose name was withheld for his own safety, all Czech air officers were harangued by politicians and ordered to join the Communist Party. Their response was silence.

There reportedly are at least 1,000 former Czech military men now in Bavaria. Refusing to join the communists means they cannot even eat, they said, and flight is the only recourse.

New Jewish State.

In 37 B.C., the Romans wiped out the Jewish Kingdom in Palestine. For nearly 2,000 years, the Jews were world wanderers, without a homeland, persecuted, discriminated against. This spring under the fumbling guidance of the United Nations, the Jews succeeded in regaining their homeland.

Their new state, proclaimed Israel (God rules), is an irregular segment of Palestine which itself is about the size of Vermont.

The first task of Israel was to defend itself against invasion by the Arab countries surrounding it. The Jews in Palestine number about 600,000. The Jewish fighting force, called Haganah (defense), totals about 85,000.

The total population of the seven Arab states surrounding Palestine on its land frontiers is about 33,000,000. There are about 400,000 Arabs in the new state of Israel, 800,000 in Arab Palestine.

Reported: By Gen. Douglas MacArthur, that occupation of Japan costs American taxpayers at least $1,000,000 a day.

Declared: By British Labor party leaders, that nationalization of industry is about completed.

Recommended: By the President's National Advisory Council, that the United States demand revaluation and stabilization of exchange rates by the Marshall plan countries.

Reverse: In Pueblo, Colo., female "mashers" have become so aggressive that police have warned young men to be wary when walking streets after dark.

Something You Can Do

By ELSIE ROBINSON

TIMES HARD? Yes, plenty hard. Wages higher than they have ever been before. Plenty of jobs—still things don't click. Nobody feels secure. Nobody knows where they're heading or even where they want to go.

All that money off to Europe—will it really accomplish anything? Or is it pouring water down a rat hole? And the horror of those starving youngsters. They didn't make this war and they shouldn't have to face this awful penalty.

Why should the Jews have to pave the Holy Land with blood? So that a few millionaires may double their millions by the ancient treasure of oil?

And here in our own land we are torn by such racial and religious intolerance as we have never known in our history.

Lincoln died to save us from this. Washington starved and froze trying to make his own neighbors accept freedom. And chances are they would both be shot if they walked our streets today.

Yes, the war has left us with a frightful aftermath. Everywhere there's fear and hate and suspicion. Not a soul can escape it. Then why am I writing about it—writing to you? You can't do anything about it, can you?

YES, YOU CAN. YOU CAN REFUSE TO THINK DISASTER.

Disaster doesn't begin with guns or international incidents. It begins with thoughts. Everything we have to do begins with thought. This chair you are sitting on, this paper you are holding, both were thoughts in someone's mind before they ever became tangible realities. And that goes for good time as well as bad.

YOU CAN MAKE OR BREAK AMERICA BY THE POWER OF YOUR THOUGHTS IN THIS HOUR OF PERILOUS INDECISION. YOU CAN ACTUALLY THINK US BACK INTO REAL PEACE AND PROSPERITY IF YOU'LL JUST BELIEVE YOU CAN.

How did America start? With a lot of enthusiastic patriots? Not by a long shot. For every man who was for the Revolution, there were a dozen against it, dozens of sour pusses who thought we were headed straight for perdition if we let go of Britain's apron strings.

But there were a few, just a few, who believed. They were poor, untrained, lacking in ammunition. But they thought the Yankees had the power to lick opposition at home or abroad and because of those thoughts they conquered.

What can you do today without power or fame or wealth in a world run amuck? You can do something that neither all the guns nor gold in Fort Knox can do.

YOU CAN THINK STRAIGHT. YOU CAN BELIEVE. YOU CAN HAVE FAITH.

You needn't be namby-pamby about it. You needn't say there's no danger for there is. You needn't refuse to face facts in the vain hope that that will make everything just ducky, for it won't.

But you can think straight. You can force yourself to believe, as Washington and his ragged troops believed, in ultimate victory for the right. You can kick all the fear and doubt and cynicism if you'dd just have faith in the power of your own courageous thoughts, and hang on to them no matter how many arguments are brought against you.

Against Bottle Feeding

By CALVIN A. BYERS

My dear Mr. Byers:

Please do not use my name, but why not, in your column, tell young mothers what they're missing if they do not nurse their babies?

I have three children—8, 5 and 3. We expect another baby which we hope will complete a family of two boys and two girls . . . the boys are the older.

When our first baby came, I followed a friend's advice and weaned him almost immediately. We fed him a patented baby food, and he got along, but has always been subject to every contagion that goes around. His teething was fretful business, and he wore me to a frazzle looking after him. I was really afraid to have another child, and then, during my second pregnancy, I met and talked with a wonderful old lady, who had been the mother of nine fine boys and two girls. She advised me to try nursing my child, and told me some things I had never known about the relationship of babies and mothers, even after the birth. Being fairly intelligent, I could see the sense of it, and my new plan of action helped to make my second child's birth easier and happier. I recuperated rapidly without that draggy, wornout nervous feeling.

From that time until now, I have enjoyed being a mother! Of course, I have made of it a full time job—but results have been worthwhile. Both my second and third babies were "good," healthy, happy cherubs—really beautiful children. A good baby is a joy to have about the house, and from the physical standpoint alone, there is no thrill to compare with the satisfaction of feeding one's own child at one's own breast. It is a kind of elemental satisfaction that seems just right.

When, because of ignorance or false modesty, I see mothers deny their children the health that mother's milk helps to insure, and deny themselves a satisfaction that they can never get in any other way, it seems too bad. Don't you think so?

I gave a small talk to our Mothers club recently, and told what I have learned. Some of the girls were shocked at my frankness, but they all listened very carefully. If even one baby gets better care because of me, I'll be glad.

Thank you for listening.

Cordially,

MRS. D. R. K.
